

PERSIST

Tells the `ObjectManager` to make an instance managed and persistent.

The object will be entered into the database as a result of the flush operation.

NOTE: The persist operation always considers objects that are not yet known to this `ObjectManager` as NEW. Do not pass detached objects to the persist operation.

REMOVE

Removes an object instance.

A removed object will be removed from the database as a result of the flush operation.